Cell surface adhesion molecules integrins, for example which transmit information from the extracellular matrix to the cell play vital roles in numerous cellular processes.

The Creator (Love Is the Nature of Existence Book 4)

Though the description of impersonality in poetry as set forth by Eliot in the essay "Tradition and the Individual Talent" shows tentative acceptance of Aristotle's view of body-soul unity, which provides no analogy for poetry that, as it were, could reincarnate the poet's personality in the aspect of its passional experience, still the hint remains that as in Aristotle the mind, at least, may enjoy such perpetuation. The Strands of a Life: The Science of DNA and the Art of Education (Alfred P.Sloan Foundation)

Harrison Ford found it strange that "there's a princess with weird buns in her hair", and called Chewbacca a "giant in a monkey suit". For this second edition of King Henry V, Shakespeare's most celebrated war play, Andrew Gurr has added a new section to his introduction in which he considers recent criticism and important contemporary productions of the play.

Come let us reason together

The pieces themselves are made to function like paintings and even resemble them: they are framed, on the wall, silent, steady and almost still, offering direct, intimate encounters.
